

Corporate Capabilities

Exponential Consulting is a group of Microsoft focused professionals that is dedicated to providing professional services with complete satisfaction to customers and partners.

Exponential specializes in delivering professional services to middle market companies. These services include software selection, accounting automation, analysis, design and configuration. We offer various levels of service and support plans tailored to each individual customer.

With over 15 years of combined experience in delivering solutions, Exponential fully understands that complete customer satisfaction can not be compromised. We collaborate with our customers and partners to come up with creative solutions. Once the solution has been created there is complete dedication to delivering and fully supporting this solution.

By combining our accounting, business, and solution expertise we can provide solutions at any level of an organization. We can train an accounts payable clerk or discuss business modeling and forecasting with a Chief Financial Officer. This broad depth of knowledge applied with years of consulting experience brings value to many levels of our client and partner organizations.

Exponential realizes that small and mid-sized companies need the same level of technical expertise as large organizations. Our goal is to provide that hands on expertise at an affordable cost. This approach affords us the ability to establish a bond with our customers and to strengthen this bond with each communication.
